The KING'S WARDROBE

This is the simple story of when Sir Lawrence the Lion was being crowned king of the animal kingdom.
There was just one problem...

He HATED the outfit, he just didn't feel like himself when he put it on.

As much as he rifled through his wardrobe, nothing seemed to feel right.
So he decided to take a walk...

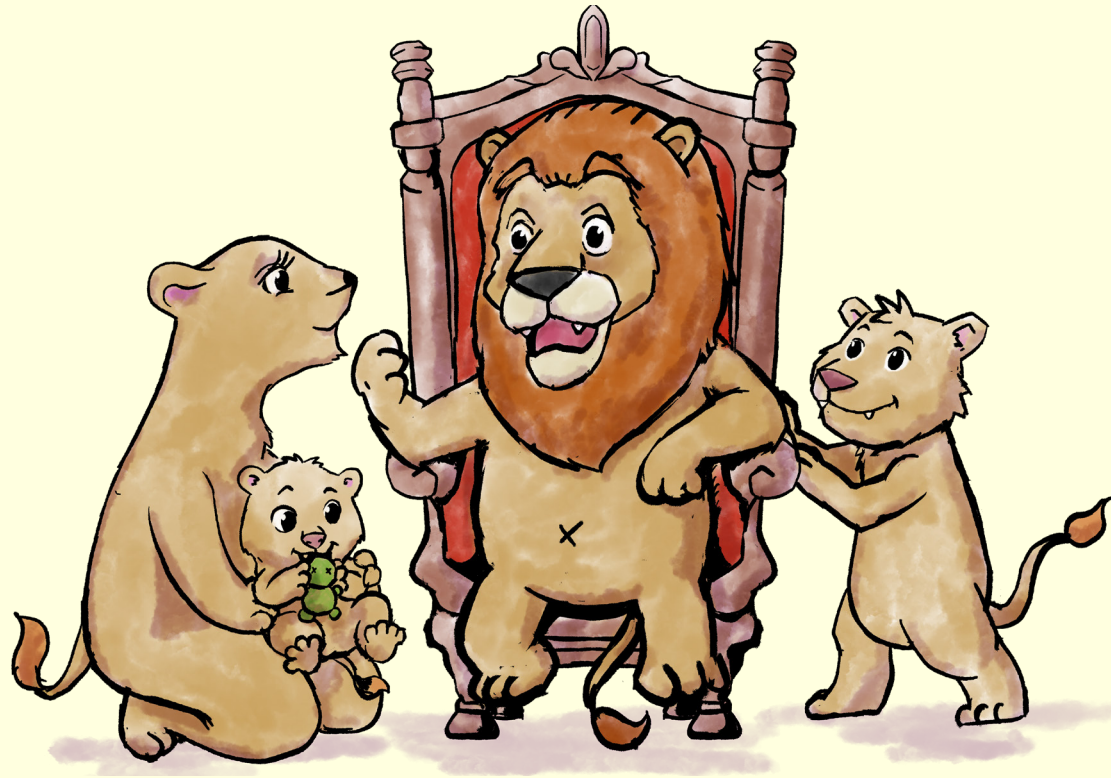

He had many friends around the city (as you may have seen). As he visited them, he asked them all the same thing, "What's your favourite thing to wear?"

They all had pretty different ideas, but without fail they lent their favourite items to him.
He was inspired!

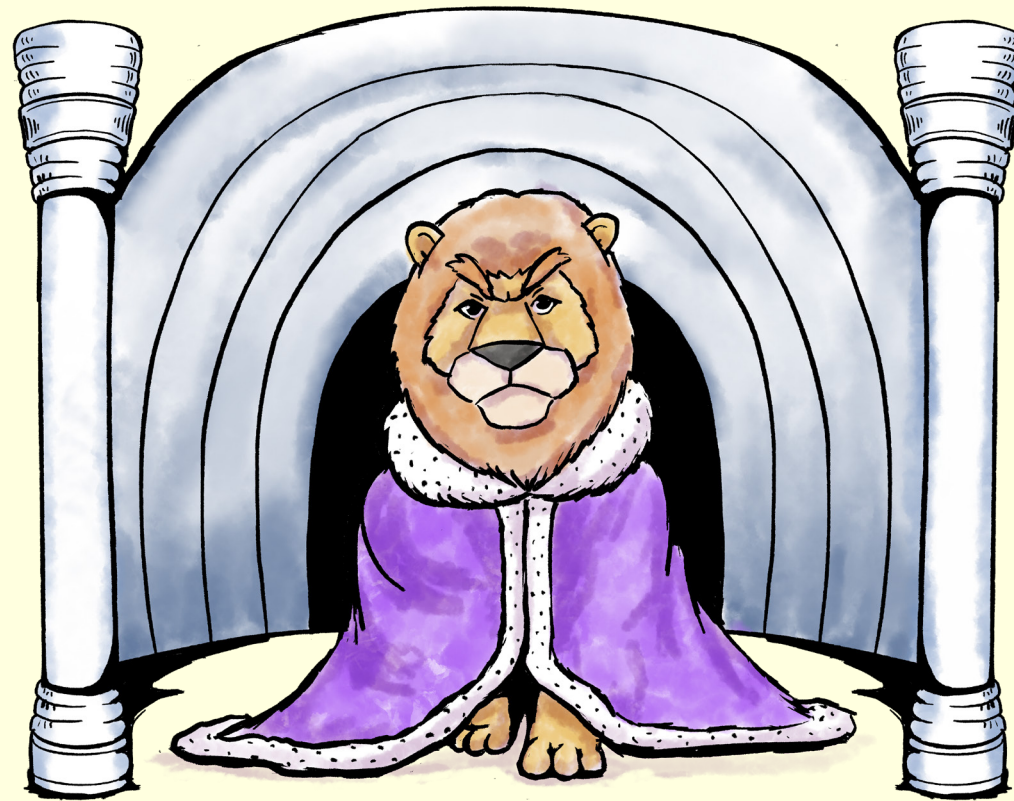

This was more like it! What a combo!
Unfortunately his advisor, Sir Gavin Hornsworth, firmly said that he absolutely couldn't wear something like that for the coronation. It was completely against tradition!

Sir Lawrence felt conflicted. It was important to respect tradition sometimes. Lady Lydia pointed out. But his son thought he should just be true to himself. Eventually he made a decision...

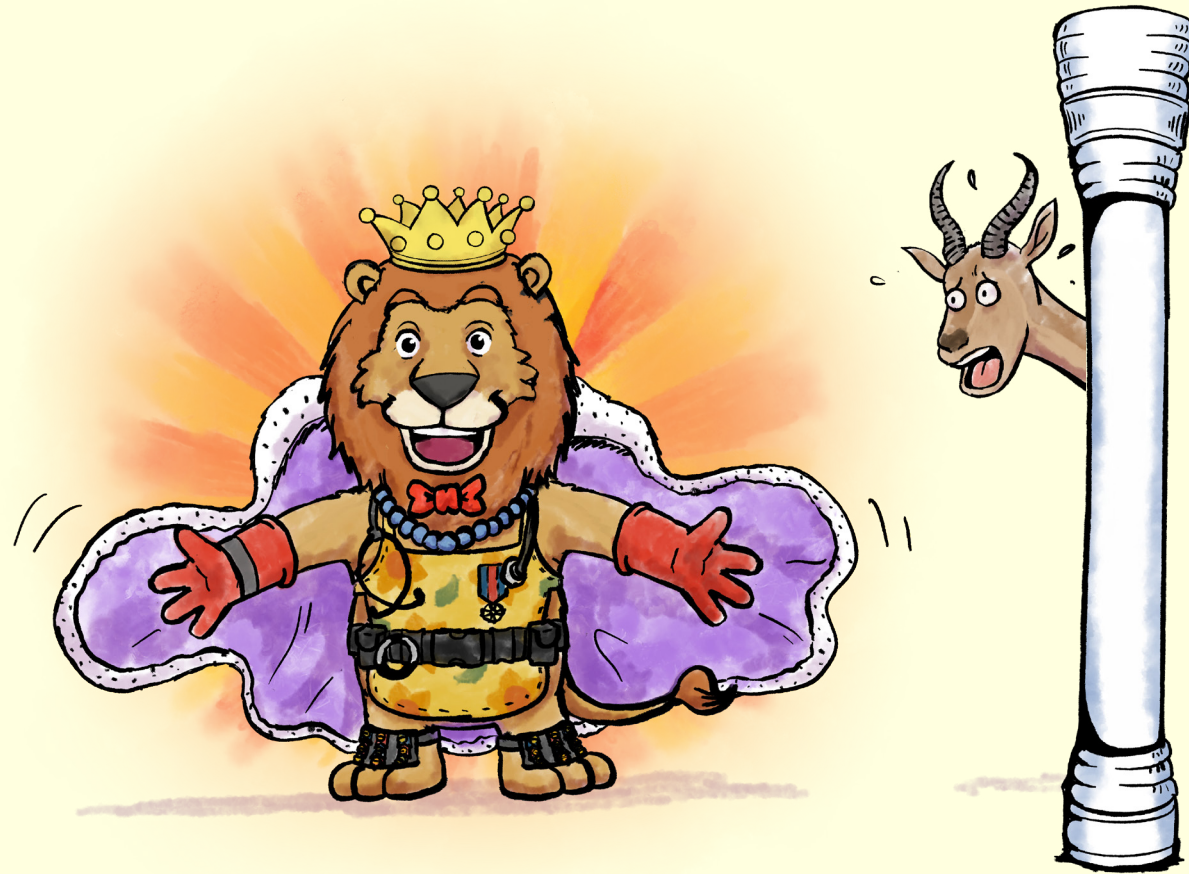

How do YOU think he'll dress?

The big day came and Sir Lawrence was dressed true to tradition. The ceremony began...

...Sir Gavin was happy and, when the crown was placed, the crowd roared for their new king. Tradition had been respected but...

*...so had his friends!
The King showed his subjects what he really wanted to wear and do you know what?*

They loved him for it! The crowd went wild for their new King!

And so, King Lawrence the Lion was crowned, as perhaps the wackiest king of all time, but also the bravest.

So my question is this, what would you wear???

Try the crown on at least!
